

2001-2002

Year in Review

The 2001-2002 year was marked with numerous successes—among them a winning football season, a successful accreditation review, and the completion of the college's most ambitious building project ever.

• Dr. David Wilson was named Culver-Stockton College's new vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college. He began his new role on Feb. 1, 2002. Wilson, who has 26 years of higher education teaching and administrative experience, served as interim academic dean at Culver-Stockton since the summer of 2001. Wilson filled the position created when Dr. Thomas Wiltshire, who served as the academic dean from 1993 until 2001, resigned from his position to return to teaching.

• Under new head coach Chris Tabor, the 2001 Wildcats recorded their first winning season in 15 years. The program completed the 2001 campaign with a 6-5 overall record and in a four-way tie for fourth place in the Heart of America Athletic Conference. The Wildcats brought an exciting brand of football to the stage every week, with a high-powered offense backed up by a tough, stingy defense. In December 2001, Tabor resigned to become an assistant coach at Division I Utah State, and defensive coordinator Shawn Mennenga was promoted to head coach.

• Construction of the new, $7.5 million Science Center drew to a close in the summer of 2002. The three-story building, which opened for classes Aug. 27, encloses 42,000 square feet and houses the departments of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and computer information systems. The funds necessary for the construction of the building were raised through gifts from businesses, foundations, individuals and churches.

• Following a comprehensive evaluation in October 2001, the college received word in March that it was re-accredited by The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. "Undergoing an accreditation evaluation is an important means of quality assurance and public accountability," said Culver-Stockton President Edwin B. Strong, Jr. in announcing the re-accreditation. "The visit in October was an opportunity to demonstrate to a team of outside evaluators that Culver-Stockton College is an institution of high quality." The next comprehensive evaluation by the Higher Learning Commission is scheduled for 2011-12, with no scheduled visits until then.

- The college has placed renewed emphasis on two academic programs. A revitalization of the Honors Program has been launched. Craig Cobane, assistant professor of political science, has been named director of the program, a budget has been established, and plans for major upgrading of the program are underway. The college has also made significant progress in efforts to promote study abroad. Patrick Hotle, associate professor of history, was named coordinator of the Study Abroad Program, and students are being recruited for a trip to London in Spring 2003.
- Patrick Hotle, associate professor of history, was named the first holder of the John A. Sperry Jr. Endowed Chair of Humanities. Dr. Hotle also was selected to participate in the college's faculty exchange with China's Kunming Teachers College in May. Other faculty receiving noteworthy honors were Dr. Sue Abegglen, professor of education, winner of the T.A. Abbott teaching award from the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) Division of Higher Education, and Dr. Rebecca Dye, professor of education, recipient of the Governor's Excellence in Teaching Award.

- Faculty were given an average 5.5 percent salary increase for 2002-03; the increases were tiered to help address the greatest salary problems at the higher ranks, consequently, instructors and assistant professors received 5.3 percent increases, associate professors received 5.5 percent, and full professors received 6.0 percent.

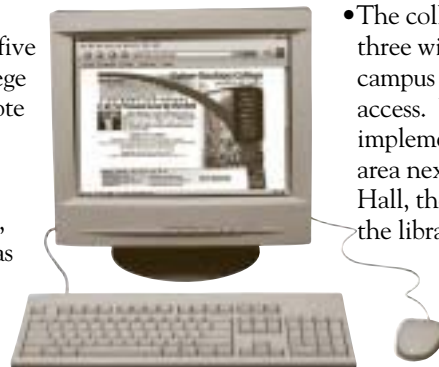

- All 12 members of the Blessing-Rieman College of Nursing class of 2001 passed the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX). Passing the national test is required to obtain a license to work as a registered nurse. The perfect passage rate compares to a national rate of 86 percent and the Illinois rate of 84 percent.

- Culver-Stockton forged a partnership with Union Avenue Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in St. Louis last spring. College faculty and administrators plan for Union Avenue to become a base for C-SC students to do service learning, internships, research and other activities germane to our mission. A grant of $7,800 has been received from the Division of Higher Education (Disciples of Christ) to fund expenses associated with student and faculty involvement in this partnership.

- A First Year Experience (FYE) program was put into place in 2001 and fine-tuned in 2002. Freshmen are assigned to learning communities; in those communities, students share several common classes, live in close proximity, have a faculty or staff mentor working with them the first six weeks of the semester, have a peer leader assigned to them for the entire year, and have a tutor assigned to their particular community for the entire year. The goal of the program is to provide opportunities in which freshmen better connect to each other and to the college, and to foster their personal as well as academic success.

- The college hosted its third annual CYF (Christian Youth Fellowship) Weekend, Feb. 15-17, 2002. Eighty high school students and staff from five states and as far away as Wichita, Kan., attended the weekend. The college welcomed Ben Bohren of the National Benevolent Association as keynote speaker.

- C-SC students participated in service-learning trips to Little Rock, Ark., in March and to Washington, D.C., in May. Collectively, the college has sponsored 13 trips in five years involving 172 students, six faculty and seven staff members.

- The college implemented three wireless "cells" on campus for roving Internet access. Wireless cells were implemented in the quad area next to Henderson Hall, the Cat's 'Pause,' and the library.

- Student life outside the classroom was active and positive in 2001-2003. The student development department implemented a number of well-attended student activities, including an expanded Late Night program. In Late Night activities, as many as 250 students have attended such events as "Going Bonkers," "Late Night Bowling," and "Late Night at the Movies." Other student activities have involved comedians, bands, Coffee Houses, Karaoke, Spring Fling, Martin Luther King Jr. birthday celebration activities, events commemorating Black History and Women's History months, speakers on alcohol and suicide, a self-defense seminar, Midnight Madness (fun and games in the field house at midnight), and a Halloween Carnival.

Year in Review

- The Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Team (ADAPT) was active in 2001-2002. During Alcohol Awareness Week in October 2001, presentations were held, including a talk on stress reduction and a Fatal Vision Goggles demonstration. During Alcohol Awareness Month in April, a representative from the Missouri State Highway Patrol gave a presentation that coincided with Greek Week and ADAPT sponsored a Jaws of Life demonstration.

- SIFE (Students In Free Enterprise) launched a new eBay entrepreneurial venture called Custom Pride. Initial Internet sales have been significant, leading the group to request more space in the Herrick Center for running the business and expanding opportunities for others to learn from SIFE members how to run such a business. That request was granted and the space was developed into an entrepreneurial center.

- A number of students and student groups traveled, made presentations, and won awards during the academic year. C-SC's Model NATO team won the "Best Delegation Award" against major university competition the 2002 national Model NATO event; two psychology students presented papers at the Midwestern Psychological Association meeting in May; four psychology students are presenting papers at the 2002 meeting of ILLOWA, a regional undergraduate research conference; SIFE students made a presentation at the International Assembly for Collegiate Business Education (IACBE); Vanessa Willner, a junior history/political science major, attended a Churchill leadership conference; seven students won national awards from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association for their art and literary works published in C-SC's 2000-01 literary magazine, Harmony.

- Throughout the winter and spring, our alumni gathered to renew friendships and to reminisce about their time on "the Hill." Our Southwesterners gathered in Phoenix and Tucson, and alumni celebrated the talents of young musicians during the Missouri Music Educators Conference in Osage Beach and enjoyed an evening of fellowship in Des Moines. The college also welcomed scores of alumni who attended performances of the Concert Choir during its spring break tour through Missouri and Illinois.

- For Fall 2002, 224 freshmen matriculated, the largest class in five years and a 13 percent increase over last year. In addition, the freshmen were an academically enhanced group with the average ACT composite score increasing approximately one point to 22. The GPA remained at a very respectable 3.2, as it was last year. The goal of the enrollment staff is to continue to recruit more students and more who are well prepared for the rigors of a Culver-Stockton education.

- An increasing number of individuals and organizations made financial commitments to, and investments in, Culver-Stockton College during the 2001-2002 year. As reported later in our Summary of Giving, total alumni gifts and pledges in support of college programs and organizations reached 25 percent - a significant increase over the previous year. Further, nearly 600 more of the college's alumni and friends made gifts and pledges compared to last year. These positive figures will be used to attract additional grants from corporations and foundations in the near future.

Recognizing Annual Fund support

The Advancement Services Staff would like to take this opportunity to once again thank the many alumni and friends who supported Culver-Stockton College programs and organizations during the past fiscal year. In appreciation of the gifts received, we proudly recognize our donors on the pages that follow. Those making gifts to the college between July 1, 2001, and June 30, 2002, are included in our donor recognition lists.

First, we begin by sharing with you a summary of funds raised during the 2001-2002 fiscal year, followed by a report on alumni class giving. If you should have any questions regarding the information that follows, please feel free to contact us at (800) 755-2287. Again, we thank you for your commitment to Culver-Stockton College.

– Advancement Services Staff
