Tucson alumni establish C-SC scholarship award

Jessica DeMarco, a junior athletic training major from Riverton, Ill., was named the 2005 Tucson Alumni Scholar and received $2,575 in financial aid from a small group of alumni who live in and around Tucson, Ariz.

The idea of pooling the group's annual donations to Culver-Stockton's Education Fund originated during an annual alumni gathering at the Tucson home of Burt and Lois (Kruse) Struthers '52. The pooled funds are awarded to a junior or senior in good academic standing who is involved in college life. As this year's honoree, DeMarco will travel to Arizona to meet the donors at their annual event next spring.

"We have a good time reminiscing about our lives at Culver-Stockton," said Lois, who has hosted the group's gatherings the past three years. "College is a turning point in your life; you grow, learn lots of good morals and values and become a different person. I look forward to meeting Jessica and learning about who she is and where she comes from."

As shortstop for the Lady Wildcat softball team, DeMarco, daughter of Joseph and Angie DeMarco, was named to the Heart of America Athletic Conference (HAAC) softball all-conference second team in 2004 and ranked 17th in the nation in triples per game. As an actress, DeMarco garnered appearances in Culver-Stockton theatre productions "Li'l Abner," "Waiting for Godot" and "Lucky Stiff." Recipient of the Sophomore Scholarship for Women and a member of Phi Eta Sigma freshman honor society, DeMarco maintained a 4.0 GPA and was featured on the President's Honor list in 2003 and 2004.

A letter from Dad

For those of you who attended C-SC from '94 to '02, I have one thing to say. My memories stray to you either collectively or individually. I wonder what you are doing and then I send a good positive thought your way. A smile comes and I think about all of the fun and good days we had. Or at least I did, seeing that I wasn't studying for exams. I want you to know, you brightened my life every day, and you still do! Every day I think how lucky I was to have had you guys in my life for eight years.

I used to check you guys and gals into the cafeteria for breakfast (but after those all-nighters some of you didn't show up, which disappointed me and your nutritionist), as I tried to kick start your day with a little laughter and a smile.

If you spent four years on the Hill and applied yourself with the light from the dome, then follow your dreams and your goals for you have everything that you need to take you where you want to go. Don't let anything or anyone stop or delay you!

By now a lot of you have heard the quarter story of how Dad and a fellow metallurgist saved the government from a financial ruin when the silver in the quarter was worth more than the quarter, not to mention the dime, halves and dollars. In urgent need, the government needed a new coinage and through research and development, Tom and I developed the tri-clad copper on the inside (turn a quarter on its side and you can see it) and cupronickel on the outsides. The process is still in use today, saving billions. So if you have a quarter in your pocket or purse, I'm close to you and thinking about you and other C-SCers.

Hope to greet you on the Hill soon,

C-SC Dad, Alias Bill MacBeth

To send a note to "Dad," address correspondence to: 710 Grant St., Canton, MO 63435.

Scholz, Tripp added to board of trustees

Charles W. Scholz and John Tripp '72, both of Quincy, Ill., have been named to the Culver-Stockton College board of trustees.

Scholz, currently an attorney specializing in public policy and economic development issues, completed his third term as mayor of Quincy, Ill., on May 2. Tripp has served as vice president of business development for Denman Services, a division of Blessing Corporate Services, for the past 10 years.

Scholz and Tripp join the 30-member C-SC board of trustees, led by chairman Donald Gnuse '56.

Scholz earned a bachelor's degree from Georgetown University in 1975 and a Juris Doctor degree from the Walter F. George School of Law at Mercer University in Macon, Ga., in 1978. He received Doctor of Humane Letters degrees from Quincy University in 1998 and C-SC in 2005.

Scholz is married to the former Becky Koch. They are the parents of two sons, Charles '02 and Jacob '04.

Tripp, a native of Schoharie, N.Y., earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business and economics from Culver-Stockton College in 1972. While a student at C-SC, Tripp was elected president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and the Student Senate. He has also served C-SC as an adjunct faculty member.

Tripp is married to Barbara (Richards) '70 of Canton, Mo. They are the parents of two daughters, Sara Tripp Betz and Meredith.
